My Comment Text: This rule is important and "necessary without substantive public interest" as defined in this rules review process. The Jordan Lake water supply storage is vitally important to the Triangle Region, the economic engine of North Carolina. It is important to have the objective, fact-based process for allocating that storage as provided by this rule.

My Comment Text: Your list is a good one. It would be wonderful if the NCDA list added the plants from your "additional species" section to their list of Class B noxious weeds. The agencies need to be more coordinated in their efforts against these weed species. The lower southeast portion of the state has many issues with some of these plants, as they are able to overwinter quite well.
