Permit for Work in Navigable Waters (Section 10 Permit)

What Activities Require This Permit? Section 10 of the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899 requires authorization from the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) for the construction of any structure in or over any navigable water of the United States, the excavation/dredging or deposition of material in these waters, or any obstruction or alteration in a "navigable water". Structures or work outside the limits defined for navigable waters of the U.S. require a Section 10 permit if the structure or work affects the course, location, condition, or capacity of the water body.

What Is The Purpose of This Permit? To ensure the continued navigable capacity of navigable waters of the United States.

Who Issues This Permit? The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Regulatory Division reviews applications for Section 10 Permits. Visit the following link for field office locations and contact information:

How Much Will This Permit Cost? Most permits issued by the USACE such as Letters of Permission, Nationwide and General Permits do not have a permit fee. Individual Permits have fees of $10 for individuals and $100 for businesses, paid once the permit has been issued and accepted by the applicant.

Where Can I Get An Application For This Permit? Contact your local field office staff for the application and procedures for applying for a Section 10 Permit. Visit the following link for field office locations and contact information:

How Long Will It Take To Review My Application? Approximately 45 calendar days for Nationwide Permits (upon receipt of a correct and complete application package). The target processing time for Standard Individual Permits is 120 days upon receipt of a complete permit application but may be longer depending on the nature and complexity of the permit request.

Applicants requiring an Environmental Impact Statement (i.e., less than 1% of applicants) average about three years to make a permit decision.

Electronic Files Submittal

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Wilmington District Regulatory Division is continually improving efficiencies within the Regulatory Program. Our latest effort is offering paperless/electronic files as a primary means of accepting project submittals and issuing final agency action. While electronic submittals are preferred, we will continue to accept paper documents that meet our file requirements in order to accommodate those with limited computer access.
